Acknowledgements

Information within these documents has been extracted from records retained by the Club, from newspaper references held in the archives of the State Library of Victoria and other institutions that hold material pertinent to Ferntree Gully Cricket Club's earliest history prior to the first affiliation in Competition Cricket. This occurred in the 1913/14 season when we affiliated in competitive cricket for the first time with the Reporter Cricket Association (now the Box Hill Reporter Association)

Brief History

Founded in the early 1880's, the FTGCC has prospered since, except cessations during World War I (1915/16 – 1920/21), the Depression era (1927/28 – 1932/33) and World War II (1943/44). We participated in arranged matches in the years prior to the club joining competition cricket (1913/14) and again in the 1920/21 season on immediate return to cricket after World War 1.

Matches in this era were arranged via advertising in the suburban and Melbourne newspapers, primarily the South Bourke & Mornington Journal, Dandenong Advertiser, Dandenong Express, Lilydale Express, Box Hill Reporter and Melbourne Sportsman or via written correspondence and confirmation with previous opponents.

The Secretary would include available dates when play against visitors could take place on the picturesque Ferntree Gully sporting field. The field (cleared and flat land) was located at the rear of the Ferntree Gully Hotel. Usually the visiting teams took part in after match hospitality and took up the accommodation offer at the Ferntree Gully Hotel.

On some occasions the Club Secretary responded to other Club's advertisements seeking visitors to play against these teams, which resulted in 'Away' matches, and arrangements similar to that offered by the Ferntree Gully Hotel owners.

Matches generally commenced at 2:30 or 3:00 p.m. with one Team batting until 'stumps' on Day One and the other either returning the following afternoon (having stayed the night at the hotel) or returning the following Saturday for the conclusion of the match.

In September 1899, along with Kew CC, the club applied to join the Reporter District Cricket Association. Kew was accepted but the Delegates denied the Ferntree Gully application '...as the ground was outside the boundaries of suburban Melbourne, the competition and the ground too far away'.

In 1910 the club executive again tried affiliation with the Reporter District Cricket Association and even went so far as to appoint two Delegates to the Association – their efforts failed, and the club was refused affiliation again.

With a new Ferntree Gully Recreation Reserve opened (May 1912) and a broader spread of metropolitan cricket, we reapplied to the Reporter Association successfully just prior to the 1913/14 season and formal Competition Cricket at the Ferntree Gully Cricket Club commenced 14 seasons after the first unsuccessful attempt.

FTGCC Playing Field

Prior to the 1885/86 season, the club played its earliest matches in the grounds of the Huntingtower (now Club) Hotel, east of the building in an area believed to be where the current car park between Burwood Highway and Ferntree Gully Road is located.

From 1886/87, the playing location shifted to the rear of the Ferntree Gully Hotel (The 'Middle') where a rough and ready playing field and pitch was hewn from the 'paddock' and utilised until the end of the 1910/11 season.

Since 1911/12, when the club affiliated with the Reporter Cricket Association, we have been located at the Ferntree Gully Recreation Reserve, which was formally opened on the 25th May, 1912.

Acknowledgement of 10 year membership of the Club was recognised retrospectively when the Club’s Honour Board was unveiled 21/11/1998. Qualification is based on a minimum of a four games per season or an accumulation of four game seasons (or equivalent). The table above reflects members who attained their 10 year membership status prior to the beginnings of formal competition cricket.

Glenfern Cricket Club

The initial years of the Club's history are tied up between the original Ferntree Gully Cricket Club which ceased to exist in the mid 1880's and the Glenfern Cricket Club, which operated between 1885/86 and 1888/89.

At the 1890 Annual Presentation event, the Glenfern Cricket Club changed its name to the Ferntree Gully Cricket Club, with its predecessor no longer operating. This Ferntree Gully Cricket Club is still operating today.

Ferntree Gully 'Imperials' Cricket Club

For the seasons between 1904/05 and 1909/10 the Ferntree Gully Cricket Club was called the Ferntree Gully 'Imperials' Cricket Club. Research is yet to reveal reasons why this name was adopted but the presumption is that it was adopted to reflect both the time beyond the Boer War and the recognition of Australia as an Imperial domain having separated from British rule in 1901 when the separate Australian States became the Commonwealth of Australia.

Arranged Matches

From the seasons 1879/80 to 1912/13, for thirteen (13) matches in 1913/14 and seven (7) in 1914/15 and in seasons 1918/19 (1), 1919/20 (1), 1920/21 (4), 1921/22 (7) and 1927/28 (13) the members of the Club played arranged or 'social matches' against visiting teams who took advantage of the opportunity to play a game of cricket and enjoy a 'country' trip and hospitality with a visit to the Dandenong Ranges.

The origins of these matches stemmed from the availability of good accommodation (three hotels) and the proximity of the National Park for any touring parties who travelled out from Melbourne and its surrounding suburbs to the foothills. Many of these parties included cricket teams who would spend the weekend at Ferntree Gully, play a match against the locals and walk the paths of the Dandenong Ranges National Park (first gazetted in the 1880's), visiting Murphy's Store at One Tree Hill and later taking in the view from the Mount Dandenong Lookout back over Melbourne's eastern suburban region.

Records associated with these seasons have been extracted from available local newspaper reports and a handful of other archives and are complete where information is recorded, hence the sporadic nature of the season by season game numbers and results obtained. The club resumed cricket, playing arranged matches post World War One, in 1920/21.

When the club went into recession after 1926/27, most of the players represented the local Druid's Lodge team in the 1927/28 season, or played at other local clubs – primarily Upper Ferntree Gully (Est. 1926) who affiliated with the Ringwood District Cricket Association or Scoresby (Reformed 1926) who affiliated then with the Burwood District Cricket Association.
